

Biography of Jim Hahn

Jim Hahn is the Orientation Services and Environments Librarian in the Undergraduate Library at University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign. His professional focus is on helping first-year undergraduate students and transfer students make the transition to university study. His daily work centers on providing tours, reference service, instruction; in addition, he focuses about half of his time on developing and evaluating prototype technologies that focus on enabling undergraduates to discover library resources and services that support learning and research, and to integrate them into their work.
