

Biography of Andrew Carlos

Andrew Carlos is one of the STEM and Web Services Librarians at California State University, East Bay in Hayward, CA. He is the liaison for the Engineering, Mathematics and Computer Science, Psychology, and Earth and Environmental Sciences departments, as well as an instructor for the Liby 1210 course, Introduction to Information Literacy. His research interests including emerging technology, makerspaces, user interface design, mobile technology, popular and viral culture, and information literacy instruction. He is currently pursuing a Masters in Instructional Science and Technology at California State University, Monterey Bay to better inform his teaching methodology. He is an active member of the California Library Association and the California Conference on Library Instruction.