

Biography of Seema Chandhok

Dr. Seema Chandhok is a Deputy Librarian in Indira Gandhi National Open University, New Delhi, India. She has more than twenty seven years' professional experience. She has Masters in Public Administration, Distance Education, Library and Information Science and PhD. in Library and Information Science. She has presented many papers in National and International Conferences and published about twenty five papers in professional journals, edited books and conference proceedings. She is also member of various selection committees in reputed educational institutions.